THE GERMANIC REVIEW

ANNUAL INDEX—VOLUME 79

(This volume is paginated continuously)

ARTICLES

Collecting Childhood Memories of the Future: Arabic as Mediator between Turkish and German in Emine Sevgi Özdamar's Mutterzunge. Bettina Brandt. 295–315.

Das Grauen der Autorschaft: Angstnarrationen im literarhistorischen Biopic. Sigrid Nieberle. 115–34.

"denn das Haus, was wir bewohnen, [...] ist ein Spukhaus": Fontanes Effi Briest und Fassbinders Verfilmung in der Tradition des Female Gothic. Silke Arnold-de Simine. 83–113.

Desire in the Literary Field: Hagiography, History, and Anagrams in Kleist's Der Findling. C. C. Wharram. 227–96.

Einleitung: Angst und Geschlecht. Gabrijela Mecky Zaragoza. 3–6.

Exhuming Rilke's Orphic Body: Gender and Poetic Voice in "Orpheus. Eurydike. Hermes" and "Hetären-Gräber." Joseph Metz. 247–72.

The Figure of Melusine in Fontane's Texts: Images, Digressions, and Lacunae. Bettine Menke. 41–67.

German Nostalgia? Remembering German-Jewish Life in W. G. Sebald's Die Ausgewanderten and Austerlitz. Stuart Taberner. 181–202.

Introduction to Special Issue on W. G. Sebald. Mark M. Anderson. 155–61.

Prose of the World: W. G. Sebald's Literary Travels. Bianca Theisen. 163–79.

Restaging Cultural Memory as Poetic Homecoming in German Discourses of the 1990s. Mariatte C. Denman. 273–94.

Tattered Snapshots and Castaway Tongues: An Essay at Layout and Translation with W. G. Sebald. Noam M. Elcott. 203–23.

„Wo keine Göttinnen sind, da walten Gespenster": Dämoninnen und Philister im Werk Theodor Storms. Karin Tebben. 7–38.

REVIEWS

German Literature, Jewish Critics: The Brandeis Symposium. Stephen D. Dowden and Meike G. Werner, eds. Rev. by Karen Remmler. 148–50.

Hermeneutik literarischer Sinnlichkeit. Historisch-systematische Studien zur Literatur des 17. und 18. Jahrhunderts (Communicatio 31). Lothar van Laak. Rev. by Holger Helbig. 316–17.

Poetry's Touch: On Lyric Address.

William Waters. Rev. by Michael Eskin. 145–47.
Werke and Jenseits von Schuld und Sühne. Unmeisterliche Wanderjahre. Örtlichkeiten. Jean Améry. Rev. by Sven Kramer. 137–43.
Women Writers and National Identity. Bachmann. Duden. Özdamar. Stephanie Bird. Rev. by Bettina Brandt. 71–74.

AUTHORS AND REVIEWERS

Anderson, Mark M. Introduction to Special Issue on W. G. Sebald. 155–61.
Arnold-de Simine, Silke. "denn das Haus, was wir bewohnen, [...] ist ein Spukhaus": Fontanes Effi Briest und Fassbinders Verfilmung in der Tradition des Female Gothic. 83–113.
Brandt, Bettina. Collecting Childhood Memories of the Future: Arabic as Mediator between Turkish and German in Emine Sevgi Özdamar's Mutterzunge. 295–315.
———. Women Writers and National Identity. Bachmann. Duden. Özdamar. Stephanie Bird. 71–74.
Denman, Mariatte C. Restaging Cultural Memory as Poetic Homecoming in German Discourses of the 1990s. 273–99.
Elcott, Noam M. Tattered Snapshots and Castaway Tongues: An Essay at Layout and Translation with W. G. Sebald. 203–23.
Eskin, Michael. Poetry's Touch: On Lyric Address. William Waters. 145–47.
Helbig, Holger. Hermeneutik literarischer Sinnlichkeit. Historisch-systematische Studien zur Literatur des 17. und 18. Jahrhunderts (Communicatio 31). Lothar van Laak. 316–17.
Kramer, Sven. Werke and Jenseits von Schuld und Sühne. Unmeisterliche Wanderjahre. Örtlichkeiten. Jean Améry. 137–43.
Mecky Zaragoza, Gabrijela. Einleitung: Angst und Geschlecht. 3–6.
Menke, Bettine. The Figure of Melusine in Fontane's Texts: Images, Digressions, and Lacunae. 41–67.
Metz, Joseph. Exhuming Rilke's Orphic Body: Gender and Poetic Voice in "Orpheus. Eurydike. Hermes" and "Hetären-Gräber." 247–72.
Nieberle, Sigrid. Das Grauen der Autorschaft: Angstnarrationen im literarhistorischen Biopic. 115–34.
Remmler, Karen. German Literature, Jewish Critics: The Brandeis Symposium. Stephen D. Dowden and Meike G. Werner, eds. 148–50.
Taberner, Stuart. German Nostalgia? Remembering German-Jewish Life in W. G. Sebald's Die Ausgewanderten and Austerlitz. 181–202.
Tebben, Karin. „Wo keine Göttinnen sind, da walten Gespenster": Dämoninnen und Philister im Werk Theodor Storms. 7–38.
Theisen, Bianca. Prose of the World: W. G. Sebald's Literary Travels. 163–79.
Wharram, C. C. Desire in the Literary Field: Hagiography, History, and Anagrams in Kleist's Der Findling. 227–46.